Unless otherwise noted, items sold by Amazon are subject to sales tax in selected states in accordance with the applicable laws of that state. If your order contains one or more items from a seller other than Amazon, it may be subject to state and local sales tax, depending upon the sellers business policies and the location of their operations. For more information, go to tax and seller information.

One or more items in your shipment was supplied by a different seller than the seller you purchased the item from. Visit Your Orders from a web browser to see the suppliers of these items on your invoices.
